Her nickname is Fast Fingers and jazz guitarist Mimi Fox lives up to her reputation for evocative interpretations of swing, blues,

Latin and, her forte, bebop that have helped to reinvigorate jazz guitar. Her playful six-string mastery and ebullient onstage energy have propelled Fox into the limelight, bringing accolades from throughout the industry, from Downbeat to Guitar Player magazines. “Fox bops, rocks and swings; she has a bright, light technique and a beautiful tone [and] a keen sense of dynamics,” jazz writer Phil Elwood once opined. She is supported by Harvie S, an exceptional bassist, composer, and band leader who has immersed himself in the Latin music pabulum, and drummer Terri Lyne Carrington, who has gigged with Herbie Hancock and is recognized as one of the most inspired drummers on the modern jazz scene.

Time: 6pm

Location: Chateau Soverain Winery, 400 Soverain Road, Geyserville

Cost: $125.00 per person

Event sponsor: Chateau Soverain Winery and Cafe

Perhaps the best jazz singer alive today is a woman almost everybody seems to have missed,” the New York Times has opined. “Her name is Mary Stallings.” You can forgive the New York-based music writers for having “missed” Stallings—she made the decision years ago to forsake the Big Apple and settle in the Bay

Area. But now that the proverbial cat is out of the bag, don’t you make the same mistake. Stallings—who got her start with the bands of Cal Tjader, Billy Eckstine, and Dizzy Gillespie—can be likened to the amber-hued Carmen McCrae with a splash of Dinah Washington’s sweetness and sass. Her gospel-inflected pipes are just perfect to wrap around a ballad like “Sunday Kind of Love.” She is a revelation for the uninitiated and cognoscenti alike.
